BLAST CARRIES DEATH AND MUCH SUFFERING

13 MEN KILLED, SCORE HURT AT COAL MINE

OCCURRED AT PRINCETON, IND.,
SHORTLY AFTER 52 MEN WENT TO WORK

SHAFT BADLY WRECKED BUT NOT COMPLETELY BLOCK-ED BY EXPLOSION

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 9.—Thirteen were known dead and little hope was held out for rescue alive of 10 others entrapped by an explosion at the Francisco mine No. 2 near here today.

At 2 P. M. 48 miners had been taken from the wrecked shaft. Twenty-three were still in the workings. Only four of the dead have been brought to the surface.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Thirteen were killed and a score injured in an explosion which wrecked the shaft of the Francisco mine No. 2 near here today, shortly after 52 men had been lowered to work.

The shaft was badly wrecked but not completely blocked. Rescue work started at once.

At 9:30 A. M. twelve were in the hospital badly but not fatally burned. Rescue workers continued bringing others to the surface and said they believed none would die from injuries.

At 10 A. M. 40 men had been brought to the surface and 20 taken to hospitals. Many were walking home uninjured and none in the hospitals was thought fatally hurt. Some were painfully burned.

Rescue workers expected to have everyone out of the shaft by noon.

Five injured miners were carried from the south of the shaft soon after the explosion. They had just started down in the cage when the blast occurred at 6:20 this morning.

Two hours later two dazed workers crawled to safety through a man way. They could tell but little of what had occurred inside the mine.

The sides of the shaft had been caved in, they said.

"When we heard the explosion we ran toward the man way," one said. "We have been struggling up ever since."

It was impossible to learn the exact situation at the shaft or how rescuers might dig through. Ventilators were still working in the mine, however.

Every available ambulance, physician and nurse in Princeton was rushed to the scene of the disaster.

Foster M. Davis, field secretary of the National Red Cross, said the Red Cross was preparing to send aid to the mine. An appeal for medical aid has been made to Evansville, 30 miles south of here.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS RAPIDLY

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 9.—Death toll of an explosion at the Francisco mine No. 2 near here early today mounted rapidly as rescue workers penetrated debris that choked the shaft.

Five of the dead were:
Henry Turner, Princeton, colored.
George Black, Princeton.
Warren Byrd, Princeton.
William McCannon, Princeton.
John Bristol.

Two others at Methodist hospital were not expected to live through the day. They were Oscar Reinhart and Willie James, both of Princeton.

Forty were reported safely out of the wrecked shaft. Work of bringing the injured to the surface was rushed.

The dead were left below until others who appeared to have a chance for recovery were given medical attention.

Ambulances and automobiles volunteered for the work were racing between the mine and the city hospital. All physicians and nurses who could be spared from the city were rushed to the mine where a base hospital was improvised.

Most of the miners brought back were suffering from burns. Some had been crushed under falling debris in the mine shaft. Most of the injuries were said to be more painful than dangerous.

Some of the miners less seriously hurt were taken to private residences in the city to make room for the others at the Methodist hospital already filled almost to capacity.

At noon 35 men taken from the workings had been accounted for and checked off on the missing list. It was believed there were still 33 in the workings.

NEWSPAPERS THE IDEAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM, SAYS DAVID

Minneapolis, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Newspapers are the ideal advertising medium, Q. J. David, president of a St. Paul advertising agency, told 150 business men here. He described how his agency was utilizing newspaper space to reach readers quickly.

"The newspaper is the ideal field through which the public can be reached," he said. "Therefore, in preparing our budget, we appropriated 50 per cent of the expenditures in buying newspaper space."

REPORTS MUCH IMPROVEMENT IN FINANCES

A. J. VEIGEL, STATE BANKING
COMMISSIONER, ISSUES
STATEMENT

CASH RESERVE OF $50,000,000,
DOUBLE TOTAL REQUIRED
BY LAW

St. Paul, Dec. 9.—(UP)—An improvement in the financial condition of Minnesota state banks was reported today by A. J. Veigel, state commissioner of banking.

Veigel issued a statement showing the condition of state banks as of November 13, revealing that the cash reserve of all institutions amounts to $50,000,000, or double the total required by law.

Property on which banks have been forced to close—classified as "other real estate" in order to distinguish from property used to carry on banking—was valued at $15,645,959.

This was a decrease of $2,104,274 and indicates the improved financial condition of Minnesota citizens.

Undivided profits increased $1,832,657 during the year.

Veigel said that 946 banks now are operating under state laws, a decrease from the total of 1,028 one year ago. Almost one-half of the decrease is accounted for by consolidations which have resulted in stronger banks, he said.

HARD TO GET AN UNBIASED JURY IN McDERMOTT CASE

Courthouse, Canton, O., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Inability to get an unbiased jury in Stark county to decide whether Pat McDermott is guilty of the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton vice crusading newspaper editor, will be the defense's argument in another motion for change of venue, it was indicated as the fourth day of the trial got under way here today.

Numerous prospective veniremen called to complete the jury box which now has seven men and four women tentatively seated were excused today when they pleaded they were personal friends of the slain editor or had formed an opinion on the case.

The defense is making a strong effort to have the trial moved to another county. It is expected that McDermott's chief counsel, E. W. Mills, will exercise every one of his remaining seven peremptory challenges to riddle the tentative jury when the box has been filled.

MORRISON COUNTY MAN IS SENTENCED TO LEAVENWORTH

Duluth, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Frank Wogek, of Morrison county, was sentenced to one year and one day in the Leavenworth federal penitentiary by Federal Judge John B. Sanborn Wednesday. Wogek pleaded guilty to possessing an unlicensed still.

Oscar E. Gass and James N. Valentine, both of Duluth, violation of immigration laws and smuggling women into United States from Canada, six months each in St. Louis county jail.

Frank Tesch of Cook, Minn., illegal possession of moonshine mash, year and day in Leavenworth.

The number of men below when the explosion occurred but estimated there may have been as many as 68.

TESTIMONY OF NAVY OFFICERS AT OIL TRIAL

ON SATURDAY DEFENSE ATTOR-NEYS ARE EXPECTED TO

ADMIRAL COONTZ TO TELL OF IMPORTANCE OF PEARL HARBOR

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Testimony of navy officers will top off the defense case in the Fall-Doheny oil conspiracy trial between now and Friday night or Saturday noon when attorneys for the defense are expected to rest their case.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, former chief of naval operations and other navy experts including war college officials, have been summoned to tell the youthful jury of the importance of the Pearl Harbor oil tanks to the national defense.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur is still under subpoena, although defense lawyers will not say whether he is to be called, and John McCormack, ace of the more than 20 "character witnesses" for Doheny, is still to appear.

Several more oil men including J. C. Anderson, president of the Pan-American Petroleum Co. of California, owned by Doheny, are to appear. After the defense case as outlined by Frank J. Hogan, the oil man's chief attorney, is completed, a few witnesses may appear on behalf of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, co-defendant with Doheny.

Washington, Dec. 9.—E. L. Doheny Sr., his wife and his son, E. L. Doheny Jr., all took the witness stand here today in the trial of Doheny Sr., and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, on charges of conspiracy.

Mrs. Doheny was the first of the trio to testify. She was followed by her son. They told the story of the $100,000 loan made to Fall before the Elk Hills oil leases and Pearl Harbor tank contracts were awarded Doheny by the government.

TWO DASH FROM REFORMATORY AT ST. CLOUD

ERNEST KIDDER, 19, OF BRON-SON, RECAPTURED AT ANOKA

FRANK NOLAN, ST. PAUL, BOX-
CAR THIEVES' LEADER,
STILL AT LARGE

St. Cloud, Minn., Dec. 9.—(UP)—One of two criminals who escaped from the St. Cloud state reformatory was still at large today. St. Paul police are reported watching his old haunts there.

The prisoner was Frank Nolan, of St. Paul, confessed leader of a gang of boxcar thieves that had developed an elaborate system in its robberies. He and Ernest Kidder, 19, of Bronson, Minn., made a dash to freedom Wednesday. It was short-lived for Kidder who was recaptured at Anoka.

Nolan and Kidder had been assigned with other prisoners to assist in excavating for a new building outside the walls of the reformatory. Dropping their tools, they slipped away almost under the noses of guards, and vanished.

They turned up at Anoka where alert policemen who had been warned of the escape of the criminals, stopped the automobile in which they were fleeing.

While Kidder hesitated, Nolan abandoned his companion and sprinted away. Kidder was taken back to the reformatory and questioned, but said he had no idea of where they had planned to go. No further trace of Nolan was found.

Arrested with three others in 1925 Nolan admitted that he planned and directed robberies by which merchandise taken from box cars was marked "missing on arrival" by freight checkers.

SEN. JIM REED TO CONFER ON 4 BIG POINTS

SPECIAL ELECTION INVESTIGAT-ING COMMITTEE HAS MAT-TERS IN CHARGE

ARE INSULL, WRIGHT, CROWE, O'CONNOR TO BE CITED FOR PROSECUTION?

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Fights over Illinois, Pennsylvania and Maine senate seats today threatened to put legislative matters in the background in the upper house.

Chairman James A. Reed of the special election investigating committee announced he would confer with members before night on four points:

1. What should be done if Sen-elect Frank L. Smith, republican, Illinois, is designated by Gov. Len Small to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. McKinley, republican, Illinois, in view of charges involving Smith's primary election.

2. Whether votes in the Pennsylvania primary designating Sen-elect Vare as republican nominee should be impounded to prevent their destruction until it is decided whether a recount will be demanded.

3. Whether action should be taken on appeals for an investigation of expenditures of former Sen. Butler, republican, Massachusetts, and Sen. Gould, republican, Maine.

The privileges and elections committee already has the Gould case before it on other charges.

4. Whether Samuel Insull, Illinois public utilities magnate, Edward H. Wright, negro ward leader of Chicago; State's Atty. Robert E. Crowe of Chicago and Magistrate Francis X. O'Connor of Philadelphia, shall be cited to the senate for prosecution because they refused to give evidence demanded by the committee.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Possibility of instituting further investigations of senatorial elections was discussed at a meeting of the Reed special senate committee today but no decision was reached.

The committee will meet again at 9 A. M. tomorrow to decide what course to undertake in connection with charges involving elections in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts and Indiana.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The corrupt elections issue was thrown before the senate today when Sen. Dill, democrat, Washington, introduced a resolution to bar Sen-elect William S. Vare, republican, Pennsylvania, from the chamber and in a speech attacked Vare's expenditure of $800,000 in the primary.

Dill's resolution would declare Vare "disqualified as a senator" and prevent him or any one else from presenting his credentials of election.

The resolution is couched in the same words used in the resolution adopted by the senate several years ago in condemning expenditures of $200,000 by Sen. Truman Newberry, republican, Michigan. Excessive expenditures, it stated, are "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to honor and dignity of the senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of free government and tainted with political corruption, credentials for a seat in the senate."

Washington, Dec. 9.—Resolutions to bar Senators-elect William S. Vare, republican, Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, republican, Illinois, from the senate were introduced today by Sen. Dill, democrat, Washington.

Dill attacked Vare's expenditure of $800,000 and Smith's of $400,000 in their primary campaigns, and also assailed Smith for accepting $125,000 from Samuel Insull, public utilities magnate, for his campaign fund. The Smith resolution introduced some time after that relating to Vare, directs that Smith be declared disqualified and that his credentials

ATTEMPT TO SLAY AGENT OF LIBERAL REGIME, NICARAGUA

Mexico City, Dec. 9.—(UP)—An attempt to assassinate Dr. Raoul Zepeda, agent of the Nicaraguan liberal government, failed last night when six men in a passing touring car fired pistol shots through the windshield of an automobile carrying Dr. Raoul and a chauffeur, slightly wounding the latter.

Dr. Zepeda believed the gunmen were agents of the Nicaraguan conservative government.

CLAIM COUNT HAS HIS HOME IN VIENNA

COUNT LUDWIG SALM IS PLAIN-TIF IN DIVORCE
CASE

CHARGES WIFE, FORMER MILLI-CENT ROGERS, "ABAN-DONED" HIM

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 9.—Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy was called on to decide today whether an impoverished alien count can sustain a law suit in an American court for the custody of his child and a divorce from an American heiress.

The ruling will be made upon the challenged jurisdiction of the court in the suit of Count Ludwig Salm against Millicent Rogers Salm whom the count charges "unjustifiably abandoned" him four months after their marriage.

Attorneys for the heiress argued yesterday that the count's permanent residence was in Vienna, and that, therefore, the court had no jurisdiction. Counsel for the count replied he arrived here two weeks ago under the immigration quota and was here to stay.

May Reappoint LaFayette French, Jr., U. S. District Attorney

St. Paul, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Reappointment of LaFayette French, Jr., as United States district attorney for Minnesota is believed assured by the recommendation of Attorney General Sargent supported by U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall in Washington Wednesday.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN ACCIDENTS

St. Paul, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Two men lost their lives in accidents Wednesday. Andrew Sass, 44, married and the father of five children, was struck and killed by a crowbar while supervising laying of piping. Charles Schwanz, also married and the father of five children, slipped to death from a scaffolding.

be rejected when presented to the senate.

"During the past few months we have had some of the most flagrant violations of the spirit and purpose of the primary in the history of American politics," said Dill.

"The credentials are sticky with money. Their acceptance or recognition as valid by this senate would be a dangerous precedent."

"In Illinois the testimony before the senate's special investigating committee proved Smith expended and permitted to be expended in his behalf more than $400,000. He accepted a contribution of $125,000 from Samuel Insull, largest owner and manager of public utility corporations in Illinois. Mr. Smith at that time was chairman of the Illinois commerce commission which fixed rates for railroad and public utilities in the state of Illinois."

"The acceptance of that contribution in itself shows such a lack of consideration for sound public policy on the part of a man aspiring to high office that the senate should declare him disqualified on that ground alone."

Dill asked that the two resolutions lie on the table where he may call them up at any time.

The resolutions assure that the Smith and Vare fights will be made at this session of congress although their terms do not start until March 4.

IS FOUND AT HARRISBURG, ADMITS IDENTITY

STARTS BACK TO CALIFORNIA,
WHERE HE IS WANTED AS
FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE

HAD BEEN LIVING IN PENNSYL-VANIA, MADE NO EFFORT TO CONCEAL IDENTITY

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Kenneth G. Ormiston, the long hunted radio operator in the Almee Sample McPherson kidnapping case, was found here during the night, arrested, and today started back to California where he is wanted as a fugitive from justice.

Ormiston left here by train at 7:45 A. M.

Ormiston was traced for weeks over the country, from one place to another. Finally last night officers caught up with him in a modest apartment on Fourth Street, Harrisburg, where he said he had been living for some time, under an assumed name, but making practically no effort to conceal his identity.

He had moved about this and other cities; rubbed elbows with detectives—even to the extent of being in an Atlantic City, N. J., hotel while a detective convention was being held there—had passed the Harrisburg police station almost daily, but never had been recognized.

When first arrested it was understood he refused to waive extradition but later changed his mind and a few hours after being taken into custody, boarded a train with two detectives accompanying him and started back for California.

What occurred to change Ormiston's plan to resist extradition to Los Angeles was not known, but soon after the police formally announced the arrest it was revealed that he had agreed to go back to California and already was on a train en route west.

Ormiston was found in an apartment at 25 South Front Street by local police officers.

Besides the bare announcement of Ormiston's arrest, Chief Thompson refused to make any statement. He, however, promised to give out the complete details of the arrest at 9:45 A. M. today.

Ormiston for a long period had been the radio operator at Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, and Mrs. McPherson was the evangelist in charge. Last summer Mrs. McPherson went to a beach near Los Angeles for a day's outing. She did not return. It was thought that she had drowned. For days her followers watched the beach for her body to be cast up; prayed for her return and searched for her. Some six weeks later she appeared in Douglas, Ariz., telling a story of having been kidnapped and held captive for weeks in a shack in northern Sonora.

After a triumphant return to Los Angeles an investigation was started. As a result the story was told that instead of having been kidnapped and held captive, she shared with Ormiston, who had disappeared at about the same time, a cottage at Carmel by the Sea, Cal.

Mrs. McPherson was indicted for a conspiracy to obstruct justice and her case is expected to come to trial soon. In the meantime Ormiston has been sought far and wide but to no avail. In letters he has denied association with Mrs. McPherson's disappearance.

Asked who he was, Ormiston looked over credentials of his visitors and then admitted his identity.

None was permitted to see him at police headquarters today and it was not definitely known that he was held there. It was believed possible he might have been held under guard in a hotel or private residence.

Announcement of the arrest of Ormiston was made by Chief Thompson after newspapermen had tried in vain to obtain a statement from officials at police headquarters.

It was known that Detective "Kit" Carson was working on a case which he had told the chief of detectives had been authorized by Chief Thompson.

"If you want to know any more about it, you'll have to see the chief," Carson was quoted as having told his immediate superior.

Chief Thompson was finally located at his home and made the announcement that Ormiston had been arrested and admitted his identity.

2 QUARTS LIQUOR

Washington, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Every person in the United States would have $42.62 in his pocket and nearly two quarts of genuine pre-war liquor on his hip (assuming the hip was big enough) if all the money and bonded liquor in the country were distributed equally—and what a Christmas it would be!

Total money now in circulation as announced by the treasury, is $1,949,247,261. Total liquor in bond, as announced by the internal revenue bureau, is 57,000,000 gallons. Population is estimated by the census bureau at 116,114,300.

REFORMATORY
AT ST. CLOUD

ERNEST KIDDER, 19, OF BRON-SON, RECAPTURED AT ANOKA

FRANK NOLAN, ST. PAUL, BOX-
CAR THIEVES' LEADER,
STILL AT LARGE

St. Cloud, Minn., Dec. 9.—(UP)—One of two criminals who escaped from the St. Cloud state reformatory was still at large today. St. Paul police are reported watching his old haunts there.

The prisoner was Frank Nolan, of St. Paul, confessed leader of a gang of boxcar thieves that had developed an elaborate system in its robberies. He and Ernest Kidder, 19, of Bronson, Minn., made a dash to freedom Wednesday. It was short-lived for Kidder who was recaptured at Anoka.

Nolan and Kidder had been assigned with other prisoners to assist in excavating for a new building outside the walls of the reformatory. Dropping their tools, they slipped away almost under the noses of guards, and vanished.

They turned up at Anoka where alert policemen who had been warned of the escape of the criminals, stopped the automobile in which they were fleeing.

While Kidder hesitated, Nolan abandoned his companion and sprinted away. Kidder was taken back to the reformatory and questioned, but said he had no idea of where they had planned to go. No further trace of Nolan was found.

Arrested with three others in 1925 Nolan admitted that he planned and directed robberies by which merchandise taken from box cars was marked "missing on arrival" by freight checkers.

SKIPPERS OF VAST FLEET HUR-

TINATION, WIS.

Sault Ste. Marie, Wis., Dec. 9.—(UP)—With the ice jam, which since Dec. 1 has imprisoned the largest fleet of ships in the record of Great Lakes traffic, definitely broken, skippers of the vast fleet were hurrying to their destinations today in an effort to beat approaching bad weather.

More than 100 grain laden vessels today were gliding carefully through the treacherous ice still filling the Neeshib Cut, as they headed south for Buffalo. The majority of them contained just enough coal to reach port and some may be forced to use part of their cargo for fuel.

Mexico City, Dec. 9.—(UP)—An attempt to assassinate Dr. Raoul Zepeda, agent of the Nicaraguan liberal government, failed last night when six men in a passing touring car fired pistol shots through the windshield of an automobile carrying Dr. Raoul and a chauffeur, slightly wounding the latter.

Dr. Zepeda believed the gunmen were agents of the Nicaraguan conservative government.

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 9.—Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy was called on to decide today whether an impoverished alien count can sustain a law suit in an American court for the custody of his child and a divorce from an American heiress.

The ruling will be made upon the challenged jurisdiction of the court in the suit of Count Ludwig Salm against Millicent Rogers Salm whom the count charges "unjustly abandoned" him four months after their marriage.

Attorneys for the heiress argued yesterday that the count's permanent residence was in Vienna, and that, therefore, the court had no jurisdiction. Counsel for the count replied he arrived here two weeks ago under the immigration quota and was here to stay.

Charles Schwanz, also married and the father of five children, slipped to death from a scaffolding.

"During the past few months we have had some of the most flagrant violations of the spirit and purpose of the primary in the history of American politics," said Dill.

"The credentials are sticky with money. Their acceptance or recognition as valid by this senate would be a dangerous precedent."

"In Illinois the testimony before the senate's special investigating committee proved Smith expended and permitted to be expended in his behalf more than $400,000. He accepted a contribution of $125,000 from Samuel Insull, largest owner and manager of public utility corporations in Illinois. Mr. Smith at that time was chairman of the Illinois commerce commission which fixed rates for railroad and public utilities in the state of Illinois."

"The acceptance of that contribution in itself shows such a lack of consideration for sound public policy on the part of a man aspiring to high office that the senate should declare him disqualified on that ground alone."

Dill asked that the two resolutions lie on the table where he may call them up at any time.

The resolutions assure that the Smith and Vare fights will be made at this session of congress although their terms do not start until March 4.

HARRISBURG,
ADMITS IDENTITY

STARTS BACK TO CALIFORNIA,
WHERE HE IS WANTED AS
FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE

HAD BEEN LIVING IN PENNSYL-VANIA, MADE NO EFFORT TO
CONCEAL IDENTITY

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Kenneth G. Ormiston, the long hunted radio operator in the Almee Semple McPherson kidnapping case, was found here during the night, arrested, and today started back to California where he is wanted as a fugitive from justice.

Ormiston left here by train at 7:45 A. M.

Ormiston was traced for weeks over the country, from one place to another. Finally last night officers caught up with him in a modest apartment on Fourth Street, Harrisburg, where he said he had been living for some time, under an assumed name, but making practically no effort to conceal his identity.

He had moved about this and other cities; rubbed elbows with detectives—even to the extent of being in an Atlantic City, N. J., hotel while a detective convention was being held there—had passed the Harrisburg police station almost daily, but never had been recognized.

When first arrested it was understood he refused to waive extradition but later changed his mind and a few hours after being taken into custody, boarded a train with two detectives accompanying him and started back for California.

What occurred to change Ormiston's plan to resist extradition to Los Angeles was not known, but soon after the police formally announced the arrest it was revealed that he had agreed to go back to California and already was on a train en route west.

Ormiston was found in an apartment at 25 South Front Street by local police officers.

Besides the bare announcement of Ormiston's arrest, Chief Thompson refused to make any statement. He, however, promised to give out the complete details of the arrest at 9:45 A. M. today.

Ormiston for a long period had been the radio operator at Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, and Mrs. McPherson was the evangelist in charge. Last summer Mrs. McPherson went to a beach near Los Angeles for a day's outing. She did not return. It was thought that she had drowned. For days her followers watched the beach for her body to be cast up; prayed for her return and searched for her. Some six weeks later she appeared in Douglas, Ariz., telling a story of having been kidnapped and held captive for weeks in a shack in northern Sonora.

After a triumphant return to Los Angeles an investigation was started. As a result the story was told that instead of having been kidnapped and held captive, she shared with Ormiston, who had disappeared at about the same time, a cottage at Carmel by the Sea, Cal.

Mrs. McPherson was indicted for a conspiracy to obstruct justice and her case is expected to come to trial soon. In the meantime Ormiston has been sought far and wide but to no avail. In letters he has denied association with Mrs. McPherson's disappearance.

Asked who he was, Ormiston looked over credentials of his visitors and then admitted his identity.

None was permitted to see him at police headquarters today and it was not definitely known that he was held there. It was believed possible he might have been held under guard in a hotel or private residence.

Announcement of the arrest of Ormiston was made by Chief Thompson after newspapermen had tried in vain to obtain a statement from officials at police headquarters.

It was known that Detective "Kit" Carson was working on a case which he had told the chief of detectives had been authorized by Chief Thompson.

"If you want to know any more about it, you'll have to see the chief," Carson was quoted as having told his immediate superior.

Chief Thompson was finally located at his home and made the announcement that Ormiston had been arrested and admitted his identity.

We know what we want for Christmas—a nice 1927 auto license.

Speaking of Christmas (which we aren't) why not give dad a ton of STANDARD coal? He would appreciate it.

And speaking of Dads (which we aren't) why not give your boy a year's subscription to "Boys' Life." It's the right kind of reading for boys and is endorsed by the Boy Scouts of America.

In after years a man may not be averse to acknowledging the superior wisdom of the other fellow who had a chance to marry his wife but didn't.

The other day we spoke to a friend of ours and he seemed cold and distant. Then we discovered the trouble. He had a boil on his neck.

We like to think that this establishment of ours is useful to this community. If it isn't, then we haven't any excuse for staying here. We hope you need us. We know we need you.

Ever hear about the colored minister who an-

If there is anything a man hates to do is to carry the ashes out of the basement. We know. That's one reason STANDARD Coal is so popular. Dad knows that STANDARD Coal has a very small amount of ashes.

FOREST ACTIVITY NOW IN FULL SWING

Robert Moyer Will do Estimated Cutting of 1,200 Cords on 240 Acres

SHIPMENTS SENT HERE

Forestry Department to Act as Medium of Sale and Purchase of Timber

The winter season for cutting cordwood, pulpwood and jackpine has started.

Robert Moyer, five and one half miles south and one half mile west of 13th street, who has 240 acres with an estimated cutting of 1,200 cords this morning issued a call for eight men to be employed all winter.
He will ship the pulpwood to the Northwest Paper Company mills at Brainerd.

The Northwest Paper Co. of Brainerd recently issued a call for orders to farmers and others for 3,000 to 5,000 cords of jackpine pulpwood for shipment here for the Cloquet mills.

Already a number of shipments have been received here as a result of this call for orders.

This call for orders predicts the establishment of a regular industry for winter months and will be an output for jackpine lands.

Experiments have been conducted with jackpine pulpwood with the result that the Cloquet mills are now putting out paper from the product.
It is especially adapted for the making of heavy wrapping paper, cover stock paper and envelope stock.

The Cloquet mills last year made paper out of jackpine. They have completed experiments where jack-pine can be made a steady supply.
The wood required is 8 foot lengths but further specifications can be obtained from the office.

If successful in getting 5,000 cords this year, the order may be enlarged to 10,000 cords next year and continued annually thereafter.

Timber Wanted

The district office of the state forestry department in the court house of which District Ranger E. H.
Rhodes is in charge will act as a medium between the buyer and the purchaser for timber stumpage.
Names and addresses of parties having timber stumpage of any kind, for sale, are asked to be turned in to E. H. Rhodes, district forest ranger.
The forestry department are not doing this for their gain but to assist the farmer.

Mr. Rhodes today made the following statement regarding this.

"There have been numerous inquiries come into this office for timber stumpage, from a few acres for fuel wood, to areas large enough for logging operations on a small scale, also a few inquiries as to where just a few loads of green or dry fuelwood might be cut.

"For the past several winters the Forest Service has been trying to act as a medium or bureau, whereby the man who has stumpage for sale, might get in touch with the man who wants to buy, and vice versa, thus, not only being of assistance to the buyer and seller of timber, on non-resident land, as has been the custom in past years.

"Oftentimes a man who is hard up, perhaps in need of fuelwood, will take a chance of going in on non-resident land and cutting from a few loads to several acres or over a large area, stealing the interest on the owners investment and creating a fire hazard for the balance of the timber, whereas, if he had only known or taken the bother to look around, there are those who would sell a few acres of timber, very reasonable, or might even give a small piece, here and there, requiring only that the party cutting, pile the brush in suitable piles for clearing and burning.

"So, should you have any stump-age of any kind which you would sell, whether it be large or small areas of pine, hardwood or just the cleaning up of dry tops, resulting from logging operations, send us your name, location and a statement as to what you have or what you want and we will try and put you in touch with the other fellow and our cooperating will be not only to the benefit of the parties directly concerned but will assist in doing away with fire hazards and make your community a safer place to invest money in land on which you do not live."

Promiscuous Cutting Along Highways

There is a great deal of agitation at this time of the year which has to do with the cutting of small spruce for Christmas trees. Along this same line might be mentioned the practice of cutting young trees and placing them along the highways for snow fences. Despite the fact that a very efficient snow fence has been designed for this purpose our highways are literally lined with cut trees strung along the areas which are exposed to the wind.

This practice is particularly noticeable on the highway from International Falls to Bemidji, from Blackduck to Waskish, from Bemidji to Brainerd and on a great many side roads branching from the highways mentioned.

As in the case of the Christmas tree many of these trees are necessary and useful as snow fences, but as the practice is now carried on the trees are cut promiscuously, many of them right along the highway.
Some of the thickest and best formed pine and spruce trees have been cut for this purpose. If it is necessary to cut trees for snow fences they should be cut in the woods back from the roads and the badly formed, suppressed trees taken. We are aiming toward green highways, and we are defeating our purpose by cutting these small trees which will evenually make our highways green.

ORMISTON, LONG MISSING RADIO OPERATOR, LOCATED

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 9.—Arrest of Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive radio man in the Almee Semple Mc-Pherson kidnaping case "doesn't mean a thing to Mrs. McPherson," the evangelist said today.

"I don't see that it even concerns me," she said.

"As far as I am concerned, Mr.
Ormiston's arrest has no significance whatever.

"I knew nothing about him except that the district attorney has been looking for him.

"Whatever the state does in his case can have no bearing on mine."

Deputy Dist. Atty. E. J. Dennison, in charge of McPherson prosecution here in the absence of Dist. Atty. Asa Keyes, said Ormiston will be placed on trial along with the evangelist and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

"To facilitate matters we will get an indictment of Ormiston from the county grand jury so we can include his name in the pending information which will be filed in January," Dennison said. "The indictment will be asked on the testimony given recently at preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson and Mrs.
Kennedy.

THE MATTER OF OUR TAXES

THE American people cannot hope for much, if any, reduction in the cost of running the federal government unless there is an agreement between the great nations for a general lessening of armament, permitting this country to reduce the burden of maintaining its defensive structure.

Any great saving in any other direction is out of the question so long as the government maintains its present variety of functions, many of which never were dreamed of by the nation's founders.

There can be a reduction of taxes, or a rebate of taxes, because the tariff and tax laws have produced revenues in excess of the necessary expenditures, but that does not signify a decrease in the cost of government. When the excess is eliminated there is nothing much more to do except to lop off some of the service undertaken by the federal government, but being more properly an obligation on local governments.

It is said that county, city, state and national governments are now costing an aggregate of $10,500,000,000 a year in this country, or one-eighth of the gross national income. Federal taxes have been going down by leaps and bounds, but state and local taxes have been going up about as fast. A huge total of these taxes is required to take care of interest charges on bonds, which means that a heavy mortgage has been placed on the future for years to come. Interest on public bonds is one of the fixed charges which must always be provided for. The interest item means that local governments have spent or are spending more than they collect in cash. The federal government contrasts this situation by spending less than it collects. It got into the interest obligation only because necessary war measures required it to do so. It both taxed the people and borrowed from them. Today it only taxes them.

Local taxation is a rather accurate reflection of what the people want and demand in the way of public expenditures. Our more important tax policies are what they are because the people approved them at the polls or approved the projects that made them necessary. Taxes are never bad per se. What counts is the service or the thing taxes are made to buy. That, after all, is the prime matter for local taxpayers to be vigilant of so long as they look to their governments to undertake so many functions.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A TRIBUTE TO COOLIDGE

ANYBODY who might think that President Coolidge's political position has been weakened by the recent election should take note that the New York World, the leading Democratic newspaper, has started a campaign against a "third term."

If the Democrats did not fear the president, they would hardly use so feeble a quibble as that against him.

No question of a third term is involved, of course. While Mr. Coolidge, as vice president, succeeded to the presidency when Mr. Harding passed away, he filled out that term not as himself but as the heir to the Harding administration and its policies. That was not a term in the presidency.

Mr. Coolidge is now in his first elected term as president. If he chooses to become a candidate for re-election he will be nominated, but it will be for a second term, not a third term.

The World says it is a quibble to say that filling out the Harding term is not a term in the presidency. It is a far greater quibble to say that if Mr. Coolidge is re-elected in 1928 it will be for a third term.

The third-term bogey is more talk than substance, anyway. If the people were so well satisfied with any president that they wished to vote him in for a third term, no harm would come of it. The only harm would be that it might be asking one man to work too long at this hardest of tasks.

But that is wholly academic because no third term is possible at this time, and those who try to create one are paying Mr. Coolidge's political strength a very high tribute.—Duluth Herald.

D. D. SCHRADER FOR GAME AND FISH COMMISSIONER

D. D. SCHRADER of Brainerd for game and fish commissioner is the note sounded by the St. Cloud Journal-Press and this is a suggestion that will meet with approval in this section. The Journal-Press says that "J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, is a candidate for the position of manager of the Minneapolis municipal auditorium, which is an indication that there is to be a change in the office of game and fish commissioner. In that event there are many people in this section of the state who would approve the appointment of D. D. Schrader of Brainerd. He has been a resident of Crow Wing county for thirty years, has taken an active interest in preserving game and fish, is a charter member of the Izaak Walton league, and has plenty of energy, courage and ability. Being a resident of northern Minnesota he has first hand knowledge of what is needed to protect the lakes and the forests."

The Little Falls Daily Transcript has this to say of the Schrader candidacy:

"If the resignation of State Game and Fish Commissioner Gould takes place, which seems probable, this section of the state is entitled to recognition. And a man should be selected from a district where fish and game abound. There is such a man in the person of D. D. Schrader of Brainerd, and who, in the opinion of his most intimate acquaintances, is well fitted for the position. There may be others, many of them, but Mr. Schrader has been prominently mentioned for the place and a better selection could not be found."

THE statement that the United States has lent four thousand million dollars to European borrowers during the past three years prompts the questions, who are the ones that have done the lending, and whose money have they lent? Are the lenders possessors of four thousand million dollars? If not, whose money have they been making so free with? If not their own money, have the lenders obtained the consent of those whose money they have loaned out?—Anoka Herald.

THE legislature will be nudging pretty close to common sense if it fixes the closing hour for voting at 7 p. m. It's a daffy idea to rob the whole state of its sleep waiting up for the returns.—Baudette Region.

"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Ranny Forbes, star polo player, and his beautiful wife, Joan, are temperamental mismatches. Joan wants a divorce. Ranny, realizing this, although secretly knowing she loves him, tries to win her back. He is all guests on a week-end cruise on the yacht of Stivner, a billionaire lumber king, whom Ranny cultivates for business reasons. Clare, a widow, camps Ranny. Stivner, loving Clare, is jealous of Ranny. Ranny, enlisting Stivner's aid, springs a trap to get proof that Joan is unfaithful, but instead of catching Abner it reveals Clare in Ranny's room. Stivner and Ranny nearly come to blows. Dismissing the crowd, the men demand an explanation from Clare.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued

Jealousy, however, offers scant foothold to distracting and thrown by the object of one's love. Stivner shook the misleading mist from his eyes, and plunged indignantly to the core once more:

"Granted your attire was excusable under some circumstances, what possessed you to enter this man's room that way?"

"Oh, he's not overmarried!" Clare lisped cynically, broadly making her implication clear for the benefit of Joan, who at this moment sailed out of her erstwhile cabin, followed by the stewardess with the luggage.

Joan's eyes were red-rimmed—the wet wake of a spent emotional storm. But her hauteur was still unmet, still Alpine. She declined to take notice either of Clare's words or of Clare, or, in fact, of anyone in the room, as she crossed it swiftly and exited through the door which Captain Marty held open for her.

"Joan!" cried Ranny, as miserable as ragged, starting involuntarily after her. But she passed on and out of sight, unheeding; and then his rage predominated again, and he turned upon Clare savagely.

"You rattlebrained little trouble-maker!"

"You rattlebrained little trouble-maker, for God's sake wipe that insipid grin off your face and explain why you ever did such a reckless thing as to come into my room—half dressed like this!"

Clare burst into quick tears. "Don't talk to me like that, Ranny, please. Am I so bad?"

She looked from one to another, hoping they would say yes.

She got no encouragement. Nothing but an impatient verbal prod from Stivner, which made her hurry on to sob:

"Oh, dear, I can't see for the life of me what all this fuss is about. I just came here to remind Ranny that he promised to write in my autograph book. See!"—she produced the book from a pocket of her loose fitting silken garment.

Stivner's face cleared. "That was the only motive?" he pressed.

"Why yes!" The big, baby eyes were innocence personified. "What else did you—COULD you—think? No one answered when I knocked, but the door was open, just a crack, so I stepped in. Then, all of a sudden things began to happen so quickly that I grew bewildered. I heard Mrs. Forbes' voice on the sundeck. She seemed excited. She was coming in. I heard someone in the corridor, too. I knew it was foolish of me, but I didn't want HER to catch me, and I didn't know who was coming in the other door, so I dodged into the handiest place. Then"—she shuddered at the recollection, and made a quaintly wry face—"that awful, plagued bell began to ring when I closed the closet door. Oh, dear! I hope—I hope—you're not terribly angry with poor, foolish little me!"

She tipped up to Ranny, smiling. He turned away, with an impatient exclamation.

She cried Stivner. He, loving her, was more plastic clay. But he took her soft little chin into one big hand, and shook the forefinger of the other hand under her nose:

"Not angry, but terribly disappointed—and embarrassed. You'll have to be a mighty good little girl from now on to live this down, with me."

She pouted a bit, like any girl under a scolding, and eventually by way of promising, playfully seized Stivner's warning finger between her pearly teeth and nibbled it. But the sheep's eyes she cast, as she did so, were for Ranny Forbes, who would not notice her.

"Better go to your own room now," advised Stivner, whose word was law to the whole lumbering world, to big business, and to society in general—but not to one willful blonde widow.

"Won't you write in my autograph book, then?" sighed Clare, walking up to Ranny, and brandishing the book provocatively.

"I never write in autograph books!" said Ranny shortly.

Rebuffed, Clare hesitated sullenly. Stivner took her arm and escorted her out of the room, and to her cabin.

In a moment he returned, and when the door was closed strode directly up to Ranny, with outstretched hand, and declared frankly:

"Forbes, I apologize with all my heart for losing my temper as I did. I'm sorry your plans—everything—got so unmercifully shelved!"

Ranny, with a wan smile, took the proffered hand and shook it in hearty token of peace and friendship. His face immediately reset in hard, weary lines.

He passed a hand across his eyes, and shrugged futilely:

"The best laid plans of mice—and fools," he quoted, bitterly.

Captain Marty, who after Clare's departure, had gone unostentatiously into Joan's deserted room, emerged now and listened quietly while Ranny ranted on:

"It's all a mystery to me. I'm dead certain that Abner was ripe to be trapped. Why, Clare plainly heard them, this afternoon, making a date to meet on the sundeck. He was to climb down. And I gave Joan free ground by the excuse that I was going to stay late with you fellows in a poker game, and for her not to sit up and wait for me. Why, their coast couldn't have been set clearer for them. Yet—he couldn't have been with her—"

Clay broke into the conversation now, for the first time since the whole amazing complication had developed:

"But they were together, Ranny. Captain Marty and I, when we sneaked to the railing above the sundeck, heard two voices—theirs. Then we began to talk loudly, so that they would hear us; the captain 'betting' me, according to plan, that I was too old and stiff to climb over the railing, and I taking him up on it, offering to engage him in a climbing race. When we started over the railing, we plainly heard them scamper in."

Ranny nodded: "And I could have sworn I heard a man's heavy footsteps and voice, when I was making the fuss over opening the corridor door. I agreed I should, to give him time to dodge into the closet. And yet—he wasn't here, and now there's nothing I can do. They'll be wary hereafter. All hope of catching them is gone. And Joan will have no use for me at all after this, if I know her! I'm doomed for the fate of a deceived husband!"

Captain Marty interrupted quietly: "Don't give up so easily, Mr. Forbes. Things are not as hopeless as you think. Come, I've got something important to show you!"

Surprised, Ranny, Stivner and Clay followed the doughty mariner into Joan's abandoned cabin. While they crowded close to his shoulder, he pointed to something caught on a latch, used to hold open the port window that looked upon the sundeck.

It was a fragment of a woolen blazer coat. They recognized it instantly. Abner had worn such a coat after dinner that evening.

"You see," expounded the captain calmly, "the whole affair is quite clear now. Excuse me for pointing a moral, but if we seafaring men lost our heads and quit reasoning about things to fly at each other's throats as Mr. Stivner and Mr. Forbes did, we'd go down in our first storm. Here's what happened. Gratman was trapped—just as you planned he'd be, only worse. Mrs. Clemons dodged into the closet just before he and Mrs. Forbes ran in. With someone at every door, and that mysterious bell ringing in the closet, he didn't know where to hide. Mrs. Forbes shoved him into her bedroom. We were all too intent on the bell ringing closet to pay any attention to the bedroom. Gratman probably waited until Mr. Farick and I stepped in from the sundeck; then he climbed out this window, slinked up over the railing, ran to his room and put his dressing gown on over his clothes to make believe he had been sleeping. That would account for his delay; and I noticed a look pass between Mrs. Forbes and him when he did come!"

"I wanted to catch him redhanded," bemoaned Ranny.

"Well," suggested Captain Marty, "demand to see his blazer. If this place fits—THAT would be evidence enough for ME, if I were Mrs. Forbes' husband, to set him adrift!"

THE MATTER OF OUR TAXES

THE American people cannot hope for much, if any, reduction in the cost of running the federal government unless there is an agreement between the great nations for a general lessening of armament, permitting this country to reduce the burden of maintaining its defensive structure.

Any great saving in any other direction is out of the question so long as the government maintains its present variety of functions, many of which never were dreamed of by the nation's founders.

There can be a reduction of taxes, or a rebate of taxes, because the tariff and tax laws have produced revenues in excess of the necessary expenditures, but that does not signify a decrease in the cost of government. When the excess is eliminated there is nothing much more to do except to lop off some of the service undertaken by the federal government, but being more properly an obligation on local governments.

It is said that county, city, state and national governments are now costing an aggregate of $10,500,000,000 a year in this country, or one-eighth of the gross national income. Federal taxes have been going down by leaps and bounds, but state and local taxes have been going up about as fast. A huge total of these taxes is required to take care of interest charges on bonds, which means that a heavy mortgage has been placed on the future for years to come. Interest on public bonds is one of the fixed charges which must always be provided for. The interest item means that local governments have spent or are spending more than they collect in cash. The federal government contrasts this situation by spending less than it collects. It got into the interest obligation only because necessary war measures required it to do so. It both taxed the people and borrowed from them. Today it only taxes them.

Local taxation is a rather accurate reflection of what the people want and demand in the way of public expenditures. Our more important tax policies are what they are because the people approved them at the polls or approved the projects that made them necessary. Taxes are never bad per se. What counts is the service or the thing taxes are made to buy. That, after all, is the prime matter for local taxpayers to be vigilant of so long as they look to their governments to undertake so many functions.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A TRIBUTE TO COOLIDGE

ANYBODY who might think that President Coolidge's political position has been weakened by the recent election should take note that the New York World, the leading Democratic newspaper, has started a campaign against a "third term."

If the Democrats did not fear the president, they would hardly use so feeble a quibble as that against him.

No question of a third term is involved, of course. While Mr. Coolidge, as vice president, succeeded to the presidency when Mr. Harding passed away, he filled out that term not as himself but as the heir to the Harding administration and its policies. That was not a term in the presidency.

Mr. Coolidge is now in his first elected term as president. If he chooses to become a candidate for re-election he will be nominated, but it will be for a second term, not a third term.

The World says it is a quibble to say that filling out the Harding term is not a term in the presidency. It is a far greater quibble to say that if Mr. Coolidge is re-elected in 1928 it will be for a third term.

The third-term bogey is more talk than substance, anyway. If the people were so well satisfied with any president that they wished to vote him in for a third term, no harm would come of it. The only harm would be that it might be asking one man to work too long at this hardest of tasks.

But that is wholly academic because no third term is possible at this time, and those who try to create one are paying Mr. Coolidge's political strength a very high tribute.—Duluth Herald.

D. D. SCHRADER FOR GAME AND FISH COMMISSIONER

D. D. SCHRADER of Brainerd for game and fish commissioner is the note sounded by the St. Cloud Journal-Press and this is a suggestion that will meet with approval in this section. The Journal-Press says that "J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, is a candidate for the position of manager of the Minneapolis municipal auditorium, which is an indication that there is to be a change in the office of game and fish commissioner. In that event there are many people in this section of the state who would approve the appointment of D. D. Schrader of Brainerd. He has been a resident of Crow Wing county for thirty years, has taken an active interest in preserving game and fish, is a charter member of the Izaak Walton league, and has plenty of energy, courage and ability. Being a resident of northern Minnesota he has first hand knowledge of what is needed to protect the lakes and the forests."

The Little Falls Daily Transcript has this to say of the Schrader candidacy:

"If the resignation of State Game and Fish Commissioner Gould takes place, which seems probable, this section of the state is entitled to recognition. And a man should be selected from a district where fish and game abound. There is such a man in the person of D. D. Schrader of Brainerd, and who, in the opinion of his most intimate acquaintances, is well fitted for the position. There may be others, many of them, but Mr. Schrader has been prominently mentioned for the place and a better selection could not be found."

THE statement that the United States has lent four thousand million dollars to European borrowers during the past three years prompts the questions, who are the ones that have done the lending, and whose money have they lent? Are the lenders possessors of four thousand million dollars? If not, whose money have they been making so free with? If not their own money, have the lenders obtained the consent of those whose money they have loaned out?—Anoka Herald.

THE legislature will be nudging pretty close to common sense if it fixes the closing hour for voting at 7 p. m. It's a daffy idea to rob the whole state of its sleep waiting up for the returns.—Baudette Region.

TEX RICHARD NOW FACES RIVAL PROMOTER

HUMBERT FUGAZY HAS PROMOTION AS HIS SIDE LINE

BANKER ESTABLISHES REPUTATION PROMOTING BENEFIT CONTESTS

BENEFITS WERE BUSTS, BUT FUGAZY HELD BAG AND PAID THE BOXERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 9.—Recent developments in boxing have given Tex Richard his first formidable rival promoter.

The real big shot in boxing is the world heavyweight championship and until Humbert Fugazy took on promotion of boxing as a side line to a banking business, Richard had no serious rivals in New York and the rest. Richard was the only one willing to take a chance and the only promoter who could assure the boxers that they would get their money.

Fugazy, rather an unknown in promotion, established a reputation when he promoted several benefit contests in Brooklyn. The benefits were not successful but Fugazy held the bag and the boxers were paid.

Richard has insisted for years that he would not promote a fight between a negro and a white man. The New York boxing commission contended that Harry Wills, negro stevedore, was the logical challenger for the heavyweight title.

After two years of controversy, Richard had to take his championship match to Philadelphia where Gene Tunney defeated the champion, Dempsey.

Fugazy then stepped in and matched Harry Wills with Jack Sharkey in the Brooklyn ball park and Sharkey gave Wills the worst pasting of his career.

When Fugazy got the Wills-Sharkey match he got an option on Sharkey and the result of the fight made Sharkey the most sought heavy weight on the market.

It developed, however, that Fugazy had Sharkey under option until Feb. 1. But he didn't have a place to do business in New York and Sharkey's manager appealed to the New York commission for a release from the obligation.

Fugazy then announced he had signed Jack Delaney, the light heavy weight champion, to meet Sharkey in Jersey City.

To build up Delaney as a heavy-weight, or to find another good prospect, Fugazy then matched Delaney with Bud Gorman to meet on Dec. 20.

If Delaney beats Gorman and then beats Sharkey he will be the outstanding challenger and he also will be under option to Fugazy. Tunney insists that no promoter has a claim on him and that he will work for the promoter who offers him the best terms.

HURLS CHARGES AT CHIEF JUSTICE

Washington, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Chief Justice Taft of the supreme court of the United States is accepting an annuity in violation of law, Rep. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, charged in the house today in debate on the bill to increase salaries of federal judges. Rainey said he had been advised Taft was receiving $10,000 a year under the will of Andrew Carnegie. He said he would move to reduce the increase in salary proposed for chief justice.

Prize Fighting Jolted by German Publication

A savage attack on the growing favor which boxing enjoys in Germany is launched by the Tuerner, a monthly publication.

"Twelve thousand people gather in order to see how two men in an angry fight draw each other's blood from the nose and the mouth and break each other's ribs," the periodical observes. "While German artists are starving this vilest of sports is so popular that money is always available for it. Just reflect, if every spectator were to buy a book what assistance this would mean to literature."

The article closes: "As long as it is possible for a down-and-out people, weighted down with war debts and distressed by dearth of homes, to patronize amusements of this sort, it isn't worth leading into brighter future."

All That Wealth Procured

When John Jacob Astor was once congratulated by a friend for his wealth, he replied by pointing to his pile of bonds and inquiring, "Would you like to manage these matters for your board and clothes?" The man hesitated to make his answer, whereupon Astor said, "Sir, that is all I get."—Market for Exchange.

PROGRESS OF THE BRAINERD BOYS' CONCERT BAND

By CARL ZAPFEE, JR.
The Brainerd Boys' Concert band has passed its third mile-stone but its appearance in public concerts is more recent. About half the boys in the band at the present time have joined the organization during the last two years. Such a large change has placed a heavier burden on those with longer experience in playing but it must be remembered that none of the boys played instruments before joining the band. As a sample of the music that the band is now playing, a number of the selections now being practiced is listed here-with:

Marches—Flight or Frolic, Riefens Special, Radio Staffie, Minstrel Man, Kentucky Cardinal, Hail to Uncle Sam.

Overtures—The North Pole, Gilt Edge, Debutante, Little Champion.

Operatic selections—Poet and Peasant (Von Suppe) Aida (Verdi) Tannhauser (by Wagner) Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, Melodies from Italian Operas.

STRONG SQUAD TO LEAVE FOR HOPKINS GAME

MANAGER PETERSON TO TAKE EIGHT RAINBOW PLAYERS ON JAUNT

ZIEBEL ADDED TO INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL SQUAD AT CENTER

Eight men will journey to Hopkins for the basketball game there on Sunday afternoon against the strong independents of that place. Manager Peterson of the Rainbows hopes to have his men in a victorious frame of mind, and expects that they will return with the game seized up.

Ziebel, who played with the Rainbows last year, has been added to the squad, and will alternate with Beresford at the center position this year. Ziebel will play center against Hopkins.

At an election of the team last night, Engbretson, forward, was elected captain of the team. Engbretson has been one of the classiest courtmen ever turned out of the local high school, and promises to be a high point scorer in a Rainbow uniform.

The men making the trip to Hopkins are Orth, Fitzsimmons, Larson, Nutting, Lawrence, Ziebel, Ericsson, Engbretson and Manager Peterson. They will make the trip by train.

WHO'S WHO IN Brainerd Independent BASKETBALL

No. 5 George Orth, Guard

An old reliable stand-by among the basketball players turned out of the local high school, Orth has proved to be a steady and hard-working stationary guard. Teaming with Otto Heikkinen last year at back court for the Rainbows, Orth was a veritable Rock of Gibraltar defense, and opposing forwards counted themselves lucky to elude this vigilant pair.

Orth played two years on the Brainerd high school team, showing remarkable strength, and for the last three years has played with the Rainbows. Orth was a member of the original Rainbows team, organized and managed by Charles Hoffmann.

Pastiming at basketball is not Orth's only avocation. He employs his summers playing baseball. For the last two years he has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. city league team, and before that was a member of the high school nine. His versatile skill is his by right of inheritance, his father having been a classy player in his day, and today never misses a high school or independent game unless something unavoidable prevents.

Orth showed his skill at guarding in the second half of the Superior game last Saturday, holding his opponents to a brace of field goals, and in the last three minutes, when Superior was trying everything in their repertoire to eke out a victory, Orth and Welsh kept hurrying their shots so well that they could not count.

GIVEN DECISION IN 10 ROUNDS OVER SIMONICH

SCRANTON, MAN'S TITLE WAS NOT AT STAKE IN AFFAIR

SIMONICH WAS HANGING ON IN TENTH, BELL COMING AS RELIEF

Newark, N. J., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Pete Latzo of Scranton, who came out of the coal mines to take the welterweight title from Mickey Walker, recent winner of the middleweight crown, has demonstrated that he has not suffered the usual consequences of a long layoff.

For ten rounds last night Latzo battled Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., to win a popular newspaper decision.

The champion's title was not at stake as both men entered the ring at catch weights, Pete scaling 154 and Simonich at 153.

Simonich was hanging on in the tenth and the bell came as a welcome relief.

LAWRENCE TO CAPTAIN BELLOIT

MINOR LEAGUE BASEBALL MEN

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION AT ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, TODAY

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Minor league baseball magnates meeting here were to go into executive session today to consider proposals to set aside receipts from one day's game each year to swell a fund for a home for retired ball players in California, and another day's receipts to build a memorial to Christy Mathewson.

Most of the baseball men are believed to be sympathetic to the proposals, but there is some doubt as to the legality of action by the association to force club owners to give up their receipts.

Most of the important problems of the meeting have been disposed of with adoption of the resolution favoring retention of Judge Landis as the supreme ruler of baseball, and appointment of a committee to take up with the major leagues a proposed modification of the major-minor agreements draft immunity is particularly desired by many of the club owners.

RUGGED PHYSIQUE AIDS DR. SPEARS' FIGHT FOR LIFE

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 9.—(UP)—The rugged physique of Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Minnesota head football coach, is bringing him back to health following an operation for a gall bladder ailment at St. Mary's hospital Wednesday, it was reported today.

Weakened and not in condition to withstand surgery, Dr. Spears has reacted favorably since awakening from the anaesthetic, and is making satisfactory progress. When he will leave the hospital is not known.

Dr. Spears became ill at the start of the football season, and an operation was favored at that time, but might have removed him from the sidelines until next year. He chose the alternative of directing the Minnesota team and deferring the operation.

TEX RICHARD NOW FACES RIVAL PROMOTER

HUMBERT FUGAZY HAS PROMOTION AS HIS SIDE LINE

BANKER ESTABLISHES REPUTATION PROMOTING BENEFIT CONTESTS

BENEFITS WERE BUSTS, BUT FUGAZY HELD BAG AND PAID THE BOXERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 9.—Recent developments in boxing have given Tex Richard his first formidable rival promoter.

The real big shot in boxing is the world heavyweight championship and until Humbert Fugazy took on promotion of boxing as a side line to a banking business, Richard had no serious rivals in New York and the rest. Richard was the only one willing to take a chance and the only promoter who could assure the boxers that they would get their money.

Fugazy, rather an unknown in promotion, established a reputation when he promoted several benefit contests in Brooklyn. The benefits were not successful but Fugazy held the bag and the boxers were paid.

Richard has insisted for years that he would not promote a fight between a negro and a white man.

The New York boxing commission contended that Harry Wills, negro stevedore, was the logical challenger for the heavyweight title.

After two years of controversy, Richard had to take his championship match to Philadelphia where Gene Tunney defeated the champion, Dempsey.

Fugazy then stepped in and matched Harry Wills with Jack Sharkey in the Brooklyn ball park and Sharkey gave Wills the worst pasting of his career.

When Fugazy made the Wills-Sharkey match he got an option on Sharkey and the result of the fight made Sharkey the most sought heavy weight on the market.

It developed, however, that Fugazy had Sharkey under option until Feb. 1. But he didn't have a place to do business in New York and Sharkey's manager appealed to the New York commission for a release from the obligation.

Fugazy then announced he had signed Jack Delaney, the light heavyweight champion, to meet Sharkey in Jersey City.

To build up Delaney as a heavyweight, or to find another good prospect, Fugazy then matched Delaney with Bud Gorman to meet on Dec. 20.

If Delaney beats Gorman and then beats Sharkey he will be the outstanding challenger and he also will be under option to Fugazy. Tunney insists that no promoter has a claim on him and that he will work for the promoter who offers him the best terms.

HURLS CHARGES AT CHIEF JUSTICE

Washington, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Chief Justice Taft of the supreme court of the United States is accepting an annuity in violation of law, Rep. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, charged in the house today in debate on the bill to increase salaries of federal judges. Rainey said he had been advised Taft was receiving $10,000 a year under the will of Andrew Carnegie. He said he would move to reduce the increase in salary proposed for chief justice.

Prize Fighting Jolted by German Publication

A savage attack on the growing favor which boxing enjoys in Germany is launched by the Tuerner, a monthly publication.

"Twelve thousand people gather in order to see how two men in an angry fight draw each other's blood from the nose and the mouth and break each other's ribs," the periodical observes. "While German artists are starving this vilest of sports is so popular that money is always available for it. Just reflect, if every spectator were to buy a book what assistance this would mean to literature."

The article closes: "As long as it is possible for a down-and-out people, distressed by dearth of homes, to patronize amusements of this sort, it isn't worth leading into brighter future."

PROGRESS OF THE BRAINERD BOYS' CONCERT BAND

By CARL ZAPPE, JR.
The Brainerd Boys' Concert band has passed its third mile-stone but its appearance in public concerts is more recent. About half the boys in the band at the present time have joined the organization during the last two years. Such a large change has placed a heavier burden on those with longer experience in playing but it must be remembered that none of the boys played instruments before joining the band. As a sample of the music that the band is now playing, a number of the selections now being practiced is listed herewith:

Marches—Fight or Fric, Riefens Special, Radio Static, Minstrel Man, Kentucky Cardinal, Hall, to Uncle Sam.

Overtures—The North Pole, Gilt Edge, Debutante, Little Champion. Operatic selections—Poet and Peasant (Von Suppe) Aida (Verdi) Tannhauser (by Wagner) Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, Melodies from Italian Operas.

STRONG SQUAD TO LEAVE FOR HOPKINS GAME

MANAGER PETERSON TO TAKE EIGHT RAINBOW PLAYERS ON JAUNT

ZIEBEL ADDED TO INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL SQUAD AT CENTER

Eight men will journey to Hopkins for the basketball game there on Sunday afternoon against the strong independents of that place. Manager Peterson of the Rainbows hopes to have his men in a victorious frame of mind, and expects that they will return with the game sewed up.

Ziebel, who played with the Rainbows last year, has been added to the squad, and will alternate with Beresford at the center position this year. Ziebel will play center against Hopkins.

At an election of the team last night, Engbretson, forward, was elected captain of the team. Engbretson has been one of the classiest courtmen ever turned out of the local high school, and promises to be a high point scorer in a Rainbow uniform.

The men making the trip to Hopkins are Orth, Fitzsimmons, Larson, Nutting, Lawrence, Ziebel, Ericsson, Engbretson and Manager Peterson. They will make the trip by train.

WHO'S WHO IN

Brainerd Independent BASKETBALL

No. 5

George Orth, Guard

An old reliable stand-by among the basketball players turned out of the local high school, Orth has proved to be a steady and hard-working stationary guard. Teaming with Otto Heikkinen last year at back court for the Rainbows, Orth was a veritable Rock of Gibraltar defense, and opposing forwards counted themselves lucky to elude this vigilant pair.

Orth played two years on the Brainerd high school team, showing remarkable strength, and for the last three years has played with the Rainbows. Orth was a member of the original Rainbows team, organized and managed by Charles Hoffman.

Pastiming at basketball is not Orth's only avocation. He employs his summers playing baseball. For the last two years he has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. city league team, and before that was a member of the high school nine. His versatile skill is his by right of inheritance, his father having been a classy player in his day, and today never misses a high school or independent game unless something unavoidable prevents.

Orth showed his skill at guarding in the second half of the Superior game last Saturday, holding his opponents to a brace of field goals, and in the last three minutes, when Superior was trying everything in their repertoire to eke out a victory, Orth and Welsh kept hurrying their shots so well that they could not count.

GIVEN DECISION IN 10 ROUNDS OVER SIMONICH

SCRANTON MAN'S TITLE WAS NOT AT STAKE IN AFFAIR

SIMONICH WAS HANGING ON IN TENTH, BELL COMING AS RELIEF

Newark, N. J., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Pete Latzo of Scranton, who came out of the coal mines to take the welterweight title from Mickey Walker, recent winner of the middleweight crown, has demonstrated that he has not suffered the usual consequences of a long layoff.

For ten rounds last night Latzo battled Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., to win a popular newspaper decision.

The champion's title was not at stake as both men entered the ring at catch weights, Pete scaling 154 and Simonich at 153.

Simonich was hanging on in the tenth and the bell came as a welcome relief.

MINOR LEAGUE BASEBALL MEN

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION AT ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, TODAY

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 9.—(UP)—Minor league baseball magnates meeting here were to go into executive session today to consider proposals to set aside receipts from one day's game each year to swell a fund for a home for retired ball players in California, and another day's receipts to build a memorial to Christy Mathewson.

Most of the baseball men are believed to be sympathetic to the proposals, but there is some doubt as to the legality of action by the association to force club owners to give up their receipts.

Most of the important problems of the meeting have been disposed of with adoption of the resolution favoring retention of Judge Landis as the supreme ruler of baseball, and appointment of a committee to take up with the major leagues a proposed modification of the major-minor agreements draft immunity is particularly desired by many of the club owners.

RUGGED PHYSIQUE AIDS DR. SPEARS' FIGHT FOR LIFE

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 9.—(UP)—The rugged physique of Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Minnesota head football coach, is bringing him back to health following an operation for a gall bladder ailment at St. Mary's hospital Wednesday, it was reported today.

Weakened and not in condition to withstand surgery, Dr. Spears has reacted favorably since awakening from the anesthetic, and is making satisfactory progress. When he will leave the hospital is not known.

Dr. Spears became ill at the start of the football season, and an operation was favored at that time, but might have removed him from the sidelines until next year. He chose the alternative of directing the Minnesota team and deferring the operation.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR HOLIDAYS DEC. 21

Will Reopen on January 5 is Action Taken by Board of Education

RECOMMEND VACCINATION
Mrs. Elvina Molgren Employed Supervisor of Normal Training Department

Braingerd schools will close for the Christmas holiday season on Tuesday afternoon, December 21, and will reopen on Wednesday, January 5, according to the decision reached by the Braingerd Board of Education at their Monday evening meeting.

The number of days vacation this year will be the same as previous although the school closing will be two days later than in previous years. The board however felt that the date decided upon was most popular with teachers and pupils.

The report of W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools showed that at the present time the schools of Braingerd had an enrollment of 2,119 pupils, an enrollment equal to that of previous years.

The Health and Sanitation committee recommended in their report that free vaccination be offered the school children before the holidays and that the Board of Education furnish the points used for vaccination. The Board referred the matter back to the committee with power to act.

Vaccination in the schools at this time is not compulsory but as a complete safeguard to all the children, it is being done.

The report of the book room was received and placed on record.

The teachers committee reported having engaged Mrs. Elvina Molgren as supervisor of the Normal Training department for the remainder of the school year. The employing of Mrs. Molgren was taken on recommendation and approval of the State Department of Education who has direct supervision over the Normal Training work.

Treasurer M. E. Morrison submitted his quarterly report ending Oct. 31 showing the condition of the general and sinking funds. The report was received and referred to the finance committee for checking. The general fund showed an amount on hand as of October 31 of $152,449.12 while the sinking fund showed a balance of $913.53.

A church organization was granted permission to use the Garfield school on December 18, subject to the approval of the board members from the third ward.

The P. T. A. of the Harrison school were granted permission to trade in the old phonograph on a new Victor machine.

ENJOY LIVELY GET TOGETHER

Braingerd Ministers and Wives Gather at Evangelical Church Parlors

VENISON DINNER PROVIDED

Rev. L. F. Strothman Gave Interesting Account of His Hunting Trip

Tuesday evening at six o'clock, Braingerd ministers and their wives enjoyed a lively get-together meeting at the Evangelical church parlors in N. E. Braingerd, which was a veritable raid on the venison secured by the Rev. L. F. Strothman, the wives of the pastors furnishing the calories and condiments that go well with wild meat.

Partakers of the dinner were Rev. and Mrs. L. F. Strothman, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Patterson, Rev. and Mrs. N. P. Olmsted, Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Damon, Rev. and Madam Michaelson, Rev. R. J. Long, Herman Brich, Rev. and Mrs. J. Alfred Dillan, Rev. W. J. Smith, Mrs. P. G. Fallquist, Rev. and Mrs. Morris Eversz.

Toasts were given, Rev. Eversz giving a lineal descendant of Nimrod, the mighty hunter before the Lord, and Rev. Olmsted, "The Minister's Better Half." The yitticisms of Rev. Patterson, largely in the nature of pleasant raillery on the woe of single blessedness, were stimulating of the finest friendship. Rev. Strothman responded with deep appreciation of ministerial fellowship and told an interesting account of his hunting trip.

Mrs. Olmsted acted as director of games and floor games requiring real speed, vision and intelligence were played.

Messrs. Dillan, Damon, Olmsted, Patterson, and Eversz washed, wiped and put away the dishes clean and dry, some of the ladies wishing they were as eager to show the same diligence at home. The affair ended with a song fest by Al Dillan, who also announced the minister's recreation hour at the "Y" every Monday from 2 to 3 p. m. Why shouldn't ministers play together since they can worship and work together?" said Mr. Dillan.

Mrs. George D. LaBar and Mrs. Wm. V. Turcotte entertained this afternoon at bridge at the home of Mrs. LaBar, 324 Seventh street North, in honor of Mrs. John Woodhead, of Minneapolis. Three tables were played.

ELECTION ON DEC. 22

26 Nominations Were Made for Board of Directors, 14 up for Election

Non contesting of one man nominations for four offices indicate little excitement in the election of officers for the coming year on "election night," December 22.

R. R. Gould, present head of the Chamber of Commerce received the unanimous nomination from the floor for president. No other nominations were made for this office.

R. L. Geist was the only nominee made by the members for the office of first vice president and for the office of second vice president, J. A. Kraus was the only nominee. L. P. Hough and Ed. J. Quinn were nominees for the office of third vice president while A. G. Trommald was the only nominee for treasurer.

Blanks however will be left for other nominations for election for offices where only one candidate will be running.

Twenty-six nominations were received for the Board of Directors, the following fourteen received the highest number of votes: Sam R. Adair, Con O'Brien, Dr. J. A. Thaben, F. H. Gruenhagen, P. J. Lowey, O. A. Peterson, Mons Mahlum, Henry J. Cohen, W. M. Murphy, B. L. Lagerquist, Al Ebert, B. S. Armstrong, G. S. Swanson, William Spencer.

Henry I. Cohen was named chairman to name a committee to look into the matter of establishment of a pickle factory in Braingerd, which is being considered by certain interests, it was reported.

A committee of five will be named shortly to take up the matter of giving a supper on December 29 and inviting large industrial representatives to attend for the purpose of procuring additional improvements.

Announcement was made that the 10,000 lakes association would meet in St. Paul on December 15 and members were urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to attend. Among

ENJOY LIVELY GET TOGETHER

Brainerd Ministers and Wives Gather at Evangelical Church Parlors

VENISON DINNER PROVIDED

Rev. L. F. Strothman Gave Interesting Account of His Hunting Trip

Tuesday evening at six o'clock, Brainerd ministers and their wives enjoyed a lively get-together meeting at the Evangelical church parlors in N. E. Brainerd, which was a veritable raid on the venison secured by the Rev. L. F. Strothman, the wives of the pastors (turnishing the calories and condiments that go well with wild meat.

Partakers of the dinner were Rev. and Mrs. L. F. Strothman, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Patterson, Rev. and Mrs. N. P. Olmsted, Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Damon, Rev. and Mrs. J. Alfred Dillan, Rev. W. J. Smith, Mrs. P. G. Fallquist, Rev. and Mrs. Morris Eversz. Toasts were given, Rev. Eversz giving a lineal descendant of Nimrod, the mighty hunter before the Lord, and Rev. Olmsted, "The Minister's Better Half." The witticisms of Rev. Patterson, largely in the nature of pleasant rillery on the woes of single blessedness, were stimulating of the finest friendship. Rev. Strothman responded with deep appreciation of ministerial fellowship and told an interesting account of his hunting trip.

Mrs. Olmsted acted as director of games and floor games requiring real speed, vision and intelligence were played.

Messrs. Dillan, Damon, Olmsted, Patterson, and Eversz washed, wiped and put away the dishes clean and dry, some of the ladies wishing they were as eager to show the same diligence at home. The affair ended with a song fest by Al Dillan, who also announced the minister's recreation hour at the "Y" every Monday from 2 to 3 p. m. Why shouldn't ministers play together since they can worship and work together?" said Mr. Dillan.

Entertains for Mrs. Woodhead

Mrs. George D. LaBar and Mrs. Wm. V. Turcotte entertained this afternoon at bridge at the home of Mrs. LaBar, 324 Seventh street North, in honor of Mrs. John Woodhead, of Minneapolis. Three tables were played.

CHAMBER HOLDS NOMINATIONS

R. R. Gould is Only Nominee for Presidency; Other Nominations Given

ELECTION ON DEC. 22

26 Nominations Were Made for Board of Directors, 14 up for Election

Non contesting of one man nominations for four offices indicate little excitement in the election of officers for the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year on "election night," December 22.

The Chamber last evening held nomination night when members were privileged to submit candidates for each office.

R. R. Gould, present head of the Chamber of Commerce received the unanimous nomination from the floor for president. No other nominations were made for this office.

R. L. Geist was the only nominee made by the members for the office of first vice president and for the office of second vice president, J. A. Kraus was the only nominee. L. F. Hough and Ed. J. Quinn were nominees for the office of third vice president while A. C. Trommald was the only nominee for treasurer.

Blanks however will be left for other nominations for election for offices where only one candidate will be running.

Twenty-six nominations were received for the Board of Directors, the following fourteen received the highest number of votes: Sam R. Adair, Con O'Brien, Dr. J. A. Thaben, F. H. Gruenhagen, F. J. Lowey, O. A. Peterson, Mons Mahlum, Henry J. Cohen, W. M. Murphy, B. L. Lagerquist, Al Ebert, B. S. Armstrong, G. S. Swanson, William Spencer.

Henry I. Cohen was named chairman to name a committee to look into the matter of establishment of a pickle factory in Brainerd, which is being considered by certain interests, it was reported.

A committee of five will be named shortly to take up the matter of giving a supper on December 29 and inviting large industrial representatives to attend for the purpose of procuring additional improvements.

Announcement was made that the 10,000 lakes association would meet in St. Paul on December 15 and members were urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to attend. Among

WHY should I burn Lampert's Peerless Coal?

Here are the six good reasons why you and every buyer of coal should burn it:

1. Because it contains less ash.
2. Because it is free from Rock, Slate or Bone Coal—it's clean.
3. Because it will not clinker.
4. Because it is a firm, hard coal.
5. Because it burns without objectionable smoke and soot.
6. Because we guarantee it.

Once more we invite you to check our statements in your own heating plant by trying a ton of Lampert's Peerless.

FASHION NOTES

New York, Dec. 9.—(UP)—There's something new under each day's sun in Styledom! Styles change so swiftly that what's style today may be tomorrow's 'ford.' We must let our discriminating minds select the wheat from the chaff.

Minor details of dress are those which alter most conspicuously. For instance, we notice that Parisian colors in gloves are reflected in America since the recent return of American costume buyers. Very pale orchid-hued suede slip-on models, so delicate in tint as to appear almost flesh-like, have been noted at teatime in smart hotels. One might describe the pinkish shade as a very pale ash brick color. It combines most harmoniously with the wine-red or black costumes. The pale orchid-hued tones seem to be merely tannish suede with a tint of orchid and they are most effective with violet-colored or gray costumes. Stitchery is subdued and in self-tone in both of the above types.

Sixty-inch length necklaces of large pearls alternating with tiny pearls are among the newest costume accessories. These come in white and pinkish colors and are worn once about the neck in choker effect with the long loop suspending below the waist.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients. It is called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. —Adv.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back
Pains You or Bladder
Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. —Adv.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS--

By HEDDA HOYT FASHION NOTES

New York, Dec. 9.—(UP)—There's something new under each day's sun in Styleland! Styles change so swiftly that what's style today may be tomorrow's 'ford.' We must let our discriminating minds select the wheat from the chaff.

Minor details of dress are those which alter most conspicuously. For instance, we notice that Parisian colors in gloves are reflected in America since the recent return of American costume buyers. Very pale orchid-hued suede slip-on models, so delicate in tint as to appear almost flesh-like, have been noted at teatime in smart hotels. One might describe the pinkish shade as a very pale ashy brick color. It combines most harmoniously with the wine-red or black costumes. The pale orchid-hued tones seem to be merely tannish suede with a tint of orchid and they are most effective with violet-colored or gray costumes. Stitchery is subdued and in self-tone in both of the above types.

Sixty-inch length necklaces of large pearls alternating with tiny pearls are among the newest costume accessories. These come in white and pinkish colors and are worn once about the neck in choker effect with the long loop suspending below the waist.

White jewelry becomes more appeared and in self-tone in both of the above types.

parent as Winter advances, present crystals and rhinestones are popular for brooches, hair ornaments, earrings, bracelets and necklaces. Bracelets for evening made of alternating pearls and crystal beads with pendants of crystal drops are decidedly lovely.

Crystal hat ornaments are a bit newer and quite as ornamental as rhinestones. Initialed clasps of black enamel are used on some of the newer bracelets and it is said that school girls are wearing the initials of their boy friends as a symbol of their bondage.

Now that Thanksgiving is over, we hesitate just a bit before saying that we have seen the remnants of the Thanksgiving pheasant on bonnets. At any rate, several very smart women are wearing the colorful breasts of Chinese pheasants about the crowns of tan or brown felt hats.

Evening stockings with real gold thread combined with the silk are among the new footnotes. These metallic stockings are most sheer and flattering when worn with the gold or silver gown.

A flapper hair-do that is somewhat novel appeared the other day. The hair is parted at one side and drawn to the opposite ear where it forms a bun. One must have long tresses for this mode!
